

To: Thiag Padua
for Brazilian Journal of Public Policy/UNICEUB

Date: 5/21/2014

Re: Your reference: 2014 issue of journal
DUP reference [invoice] #: DUP9089
Reprinting Fee: $0

Permission is granted for non-exclusive world rights in the Portuguese language for one edition of the above-referenced journal - and for archiving only. The material must clearly state, at bottom of first page, the credit line below. The Journal has no further rights to the material other than to post it on their site. Electronic/digital media only:

Duncan Kennedy, "Boola!," in Social Text, Volume 14, no. 4, pp. 31-36. Copyright, 1996, Duke University Press. All rights reserved. Republished by permission of the copyright holder, Duke University Press.
www.dukeupress.edu

The granting of this permission is made subject to the following additional conditions:

1. The payment of any fee indicated above. If payment is not received by the publication date, this grant of permission will terminate and all rights granted herein will be rescinded. Our Federal I.D. number is 56-0532129.
2. A credit line substantially similar to that noted above is used.
3. No rights are granted to art work, photographic images or other materials contained within the above-described material, the copyright to which is held by another entity. Additionally, no rights are granted to any third-party material cited within the article requested.

Please remit check payments to:

Duke University Press
Accounting Dept./R&P
905 West Main St., Suite 18B
Durham, North Carolina 27701 USA

Wire transfer payments to:

Bank: Wells Fargo Bank, N.A.
301 S Tryon Street
Charlotte, NC 28282 USA

ABA#: 053000219 (Domestic wires only)
Swift Code: WFBIUS6S (Foreign wires only)
Beneficiary: Duke University Concentration Account
24 Blackwell St., Suite 1000
Durham, NC 27701
Account #: 2023740253053
Details: Duke University Press
Rights & Permissions/DUP#9089

Please contact me if you have any questions.

Diane Grosse
Manager, Rights & Permissions
Duke University Press
E-mail: permissions@dukeupress.edu